

IMMIGRATION AND PROPERTY.

Grace, Bay Roberts, Clarke's Beach, Gambo, Botwood, and Grand Falls; spending a day at each place. Although he has visited the capital of the Island before, this is the first time that the Colonel has been to any of the smaller towns, and he confesses that he was agreeably surprised to see what fine buildings have been erected. Schools and Halls and Officers' Quarters have been built by Officers and Soldiers, who have exhibited great zeal and devotion in this work, which reflects the utmost credit on them.

With Brigadier Morehen, Major Cave, and a lawyer, the Colonel went fully into the question of certain incorporation acts in connection with the holding of property in Newfoundland, and also discussed on behalf of the Chief Secretary, the financial aspects of the Work in the Division.

At St. John's he conducted meetings, and several souls knelt at the Mercy Seat. At the other Corps he delivered a lecture on "Nation-Building," which was greatly interesting, and instructed the people who attended the meetings.

The Colonel is greatly impressed with the zeal and enthusiasm of the Newfoundland Soldiers, and says that The Army is greatly beloved on the Island, and is making steady progress.

"And what is there doing in the way of Immigration just at present?" we asked as a final question. "Well, things have slackened up considerably this year," he replied, "and we have brought very few people into the country. The latest party numbered a hundred and fifty, of which there were forty-five single domestics, and also twenty children, who were being escorted across the ocean to be handed over to their parents. The remainder of the party consisted of wives with their children, proceeding to join husbands in Canada."

In connection with this party, The Salvation Army ran two special cars through to Vancouver, eighty members of the party travelling under the care of Brigadier Mary Jordan, who has arrived in Canada on Immigration business. Twenty of the party came to Toronto, and then left for various points.

During the voyage meetings were held in the third-class, at which took place the distribution of Bibles presented from Commissioner Lamb to certain members of the party who were enlisted to them. These meetings were appreciated by the passengers and the crew.

ARMY SONGS.

WALK IN THE LIGHT.

Tune—Walk in the light, E. M. I. S.
"This religion that can give,
In the light, in the light;
Sweetest pleasures while we live,
In the light of God."

Chorus.

Let us walk in the light, in the light of God.

"Tis religion must supply,
In the light, in the light;
Solid comfort when we die,
In the light of God."

"In the light of God,
After death his joys shall be,
In the light, in the light;
Lasting as eternity,
In the light of God."

JESUS SAVES!

Tune—Christ now sits, 79; Spanish Chant, 50; Song Book, 25.

Jesus saves me every day,
Jesus saves me every day,
Jesus saves me every night,

Jesus saves me all the way,
Through the darkness, through the light.

Chorus.

Jesus saves, O bliss sublime!

Jesus saves when sorrows come,
Jesus ends my doubts and fears,
Jesus saves and leads me home,
Jesus saves when death appears.

Jesus saves me, He is mine;
Jesus saves me, I am His;
Jesus saves while I recline
On His precious promises.

Jesus saves, He saves from sin;
Jesus saves, I feel Him nigh;
Jesus saves, He dwells within,
Gladly do I testify.

BEHOLD THE LAMB!

Tune—Better world, 123; Behold the Lamb, 122.

Behold! behold the Lamb of God,
On the Cross.

For us He shed His precious Blood,
On the Cross.

Oh, hear His all-important cry,
"Why perish, blood-bought sinner, why?"

Draw near and see your Saviour die
On the Cross.

Behold His arms extended wide,
On the Cross.

Behold His bleeding hands and side,
On the Cross.

The sun withhold his rays of light,
The heavens are clothed in shades of night.

While Jesus does with devils fight,
On the Cross.

Come, sinners, see Him lifted up,
On the Cross.

He drinks for you the bitter cup,
On the Cross.

The rocks do rend, the mountains quake,
While Jesus doth salvation make.

While Jesus suffers for our sake,
On the Cross.

SPIRITUAL WORK IN A SOCIAL INSTITUTION.

Three months after coming to the Industrial Department, Peter came to Christ, and is now a faithful Soldier of the Corps. It was to people of this type that the visitors spoke and exhorted to Holiness and Salvation.

A splendid spiritual work is being carried on in the Social Institutions of Toronto.

our Corps Correspondents in the West. Our comrade invited the Staff-Captain and his wife to take dinner with him in a restaurant. At the conclusion of the meal, rather to the surprise of our worthy friend, who was a prominent business man of the town, the Staff-Captain suggested that they should return thanks in the usual manner of Salvationists. Without more ado, he dropped on his knees in the crowded restaurant and commenced to sing an Army chorus, while all the people present looked on in astonishment.

This bold out-and-out religion is the sort which he urges upon his Soldiers, both by example and precept. May he long continue to push the battle to the gates, and may his efforts continue to be crowned with success.

WAR CRY

PRINTED FOR The Salvation Army in Canada, Newfoundland, Bermuda, and Alaska, by The Salvation Army Printing House, 19 Albert Street, Toronto.

ARMIES AND DRINK

Whatever else this war may reveal it shows in a remarkably strong light what such leaders of men as Lord Kitchener and the general staffs of the French and Russian armies think of strong drink. The Secretary of War for Great Britain and Commanders-in-chief of the French and Russian armies have condemned the use of intoxicants in the most unmeasured terms, in some cases to the extent of prohibition. It seems that in this respect Lord Kitchener is in advance of the ordinary British custom, for we regret to say that he has found it necessary to issue an appeal to the public in which he emphasizes the importance of keeping the army now training in good condition. This result, he says, will be obtained only by strict sobriety, and while the soldiers are doing all they can to get into condition in the shortest possible time, Lord Kitchener urges the public, both men and women, to aid them in their sobriety by refraining from treating them, and by appointing committees in neighbourhoods where soldiers are stationed to impress them with the need of temperance, and assist them in avoiding temptation. In view of this we are sorry to learn that it has been decided by the authorities at Salisbury Plain to open the wet canteen for the use of the Canadian Expeditionary Force. The Canadians did very well with a dry canteen at Valcartier, and we have the authority of such a military genius as Earl Kitchener that the good condition of a fighting man can only be obtained by sobriety. That the establishment of canteens for the sale of intoxicating liquors will be an incentive to the treating that Lord Kitchener deprecates is obvious, for "how often the means to do ill deeds make ill deeds done." It seems to us, therefore, had business from the standpoint of military efficiency for the general commanding "to grant facilities for the distribution of liquors on Salisbury Plain, and then there is the sad spectacle of the Motherland permitting what France and Russia and Canada refuse—the supply of drink to her sons who are fighting her

Colonel & Mrs. Gaskin at Hamilton

A CAMPAIGN REMARKABLE FOR SPIRITUAL INFLUENCE, SPLENDID CONGREGATIONS, AND CONVERSIONS.

THE three-day campaign at Hamilton, conducted by the Chief Secretary, began with a roving meeting at Hamilton III. A splendid spirit prevailed, and the hearty singing on the part of the audience and the Colonel's powerful speaking made us feel that it was good to be there. A fine congregation assembled at the Citadel on Sunday morning for the Holiness meeting, Revelation, Recognition, and Restoration was the Colonel's theme, and as he discussed on the blessed words, "How much more shall your Heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask," the timid took fresh courage, the weak secured strength, and even the strong revelled in receiving power and inspiration. It was Bethel to our souls. A striking feature of the meetings was the splendid audiences, both in the open-air and in the Citadel.

In the afternoon a splendid audience gathered, and the singing made our hearts rejoice. Many comrades gave definite testimonies as to the joy and peace they experienced by doing the whole will of God. The Colonel again gave us a stirring address, warning us never to be ashamed of God.

After a huge march at night we faced a packed house. The singing again was grand, and Young People's Sergeant-Major Rowe and Mrs. Brigadier-Ady sought the presence of God in prayer. The influence of God's Spirit was felt in the meeting.

The Chief Secretary described, in most eloquent and powerful words, two sides of life, and told of the assurance of safety and guidance that is the lot of the righteous and of the protection afforded those who look to the God of their Salvation. He also spoke of the deadly weapons of riches and pleasure that are used by the enemy to attract and take away the mind of man from the worship of God. The message gripped the hearts of the people present.

Mrs. Gaskin also gave an address on the possibilities that all have of securing the best that God has to offer. France refuses abstinence to her soldiers; Russia prohibits the sale of vodka amongst her fighting men, but Britain permits to be supplied to the Canadian boys who have crossed the roaring seas to go to her side, that which they were not allowed at home—beer. It does not look good to us.

PERSONALIA

INTERNATIONAL

The General has been closely engaged with the world-wide interests of The Army. Important interviews have occupied him with, among others, Commissioner McAlonan, Commissioner and Mrs. Hodder, Commissioner Lamb, Commissioner Cosandey, and Commissioner Higgins; Brigadier Mary Murray, now with the troops on the Continent; Major Nabholz (Japan), and Officers concerned with the present war crisis have also been with him. The General has been greatly informed, and Brigadier Ady gave the invitation, five souls changed for Salvation and defeat for victory.

On Monday afternoon the Colonel, with Brigadier and Mrs. Ady, and Brigadier Morris, who came over for the Council, met thirty-nine Officers in Council. Brigadier Morris gave us a few words of his personal experience, desiring that we should prove to the world our love was for God. The Chief Secretary was in good form, and called the gathering a mutual meeting, and the oneness of spirit and purpose that was present made us all feel that hearts and minds were anxious to work unitedly for the Salvation of the people. The words spoken will long live in our memory, and whether we pass through the tribulations spoken of, we feel our robes, through the blood of Christ, shall be made white.

Another happy gathering was realized around the tea table, and many of the Officers spoke out their good feelings.

The night, and final, session of the campaign was a good tonic for the soul and a time of conviction to the sinner, and wayward. Many recollections came before our happy recollections came before our happy by the various speakers, and who could doubt the power of God to do, far exceeding abundantly above all we could ask or think.

The Chief Secretary was greeted most heartily as he again rose master of the occasion, and pouring out of a full heart his beliefs concerning the Scriptures, made all present realize that "out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." May God secure for Himself much honour and glory for the work and toil of the Colonels during their brief yet happy stay in the Ambitious City. Five souls volunteered, and four of them were men, and one gave up his tobacco and pipe.

Mention may be made that Brigadier and Mrs. Ady, Adjutant and Mrs. Kendall, and all city Officers, assisted during the campaign. Joined on the Monday night by Officers from many nearby Corps in the Hamilton Division.—Edwin Clayton.

Some recent changes in the Officers in the Hamilton Division are as follows: Adjutant Captain Cook goes to Berlin and Mrs. Snowden to Ottawa; Captain and Mrs. Henry to the 25th and Mrs. Ebsary to the 26th at Plymouth, and on the 28th to be met the International Headquarters Staff at Clapton.

Our Leader's other important engagements include the Young People's Councils for London and the Home Counties, at Clapton, on Nov. 1st and 8th, respectively.

Mrs. Booth, who will accompany the General at both of the Young People's Councils, is also to give an address at the Women's Social University in the Whitehall Rooms, London, W.C., on Nov. 12th.

The Chief of the Staff opens his week-end campaign at Oldham (Nov. 14th and 15th) with a message for Soldiers, Recruits, and ex-Soldiers at the Citadel on the Saturday evening.

Commissioner Sturges has much improved in health, but is still under the doctor.

Commissioner and Mrs. Hodder left Euston Station last Monday morning for Liverpool, whence they ashed later in Zealand.

NOTES AND REFLECTIONS

By The General

But almost every mail brings us tidings of further works of mercy undertaken, in spite of trial and poverty, first in one country and then in another. Here is the latest, and it is from Finland. Colonel Larson is fitting up a hospital for the wounded, especially in the hope of helping and blessing wounded Finns, and having submitted his proposal to the Governor of Finland—who is, of course, a Russian staff officer—he has received a letter, from which I take the following:—

"When His Excellency the Governor-General of Finland was informed of your intention to open a hospital with eighty beds for wounded soldiers, he felt himself deeply touched by the very patriotic feeling The Salvation Army exhibited, and he has ordered his office to express both to yourself and to the members of The Salvation Army his sincere thanks."

"With regard to your request to carry out your beloved work also in Petrograd and other places in Russia, and not only in Finland, the permission for this will depend upon the Minister of the Interior."

It is interesting to note in this connection that I have also been made acquainted with the very favourable impression produced upon the Russian Minister at Berlin by the work done by The Salvation Army for Russian refugees immediately on the outbreak of war.

I have to thank quite a number of friends and comrades for generously responding to my recent appeals for financial assistance. Their help is doubly valuable, inasmuch as it not only strengthens my hands, but encourages me to hope for still further gifts. Every shilling is of importance just now. I have to think not only of broken-hearted Belgium and distressed Switzerland, and the suffering crowds here at home, but of the support so vitally necessary for our splendid work in the Missionary countries. I have, alas! been compelled to reduce in some degree the funds already promised to Commissioner Booth-Tucker for India, to Commissioner Mapp for Japan, and to Lieut.-Colonel de Groot for the East Indies. But I have gone as far as I dare in that direction. It seems to me that at no matter what cost of sacrifice at home, we ought not, we must not, fail our dear comrades on those distant frontiers of our Salvation warfare. They have, we know, conflicts and burdens and distresses enough already. We must not add this, that we have promised to sustain them, fail them in this hour of trial.

Two letters, with money, reaching me during the last few days are so typical of others, and have proved so cheering to me, that I print them. The first is from a true friend, a man who, in company with wealth and influence, maintains a generous heart and a fine witness to the power of Jesus Christ:—

"To General Booth.
"My Dear Sir,—In reply to your letter, I had foreseen the unfortunate straits in which some well-known charitable institutions and organizations would be placed by the diversion of funds into the popular and patriotic appeals which are before the public at the present time. I hear of the effect from many quarters, and can but feel great concern for the finances of some of the philanthropic institutions of the land. Like every one else, I am expecting abnormal claims. As you know, I have always felt the greatest possible sympathy for the work of The Salvation Army, which I have always believed makes the most of the funds which are placed at its disposal. I have pleasure in sending you a cheque in response to your letter for two hundred and fifty pounds, and only regret that it cannot be a larger sum."

The second note to which I refer comes from one who is at the other end of the social scale—at any rate, so far as temporal means go. It has deeply touched both Mrs. Booth and myself, and may be taken as illustrating the spirit manifest in the letters of others similarly placed. It is dated from the almshouses of a quiet little town a hundred miles or so from London, and it runs:—
"My Dear General,—I have seen your appeal for money in 'The War Cry,' and thought I would help you. I had put this money by for something, out of my pension money [twelve shillings enclosed] and I am only a poor old lady and live in the almshouses with my brother. Trusting you will get a good response to your appeal, I am, yours truly

Is it unreasonable to hope that an example of practical devotion such as this may help others to come to my aid?

Surely to-day no further word of mine is need to emphasize the claims of Belgium! It is probable that no such widespread devastation and misery have overtaken any country in the history of the modern world. It may almost be said that there is a whole nation unemployed, Trade and industry, which in other countries are no doubt gravely dislocated, have in Belgium come to a complete standstill. The docks and railways are stopped. The banks are closed. Newspapers have ceased to appear. Mill-workers, coal miners, iron-workers are starving, for the mills and mines and furnaces are shut up. The only exception of any importance is, I am informed, in a place where the German military authorities want the Belgians to make guns which will be used against the Belgian army. In all this ghastly welter of misery, the women and children are, of course, the worst sufferers.

Now, in these appalling circumstances, I ask your help for the Special Mission of comfort and succour which I am sending to Belgium. Let me remind you again, that all we do will be done in the Name of the Lord Jesus Christ. Gifts both large and small should be sent to me, addressed, General Booth, The Salvation Army Headquarters, London, E.C.

stances, I ask your help for the Special Mission of comfort and succour which I am sending to Belgium. Let me remind you again, that all we do will be done in the Name of the Lord Jesus Christ. Gifts both large and small should be sent to me, addressed, General Booth, The Salvation Army Headquarters, London, E.C.

Once more let me entreat my dear people everywhere to put away from them all hatred and uncharitableness at this time. Let us remember that God has made of one flesh all nations, and that He has loved us all alike. The passion and horror of war are just as powerless to alter this as to change the nature of God Himself. Our great business, therefore, is to bless all, to serve all, to love all. Nay, even should we be convinced that this or that people has become our special enemy—no matter what nation we may belong to—then it is our glorious privilege to pray for those who despitely use us, and to bless those who curse. There is only one way to be avenged on the foe, and that is to avenge not ourselves. There is only one way, really to dispose of injuries—that is, to forgive them.

Try, and think of all who are involved in this cruel conflict as those who suffer with you. Remember the fidelity of the little French lad who, with the green vineyard of him, leaned calmly against a tree and was shot rather than disclose the presence of his countrymen to their enemy. Picture the wounded German gunner dying on a stretcher in one of the dark railway vans of a train filled with wounded, who, as he passed away, kissed the hand of The Army Officer who was praying with him. They could not speak a word of each other's language and yet the dying soldier understood. Praise God for the spirit manifest in the surgeon thus described by one of the English men of science now at the front:—
"The wounded were left behind, and one blessed French nurse stayed to look after them. She said the German doctors were very kind and treated French and Germans alike, as indeed we, too, have done. She said that one of the German doctors even took off his uniform and put on an overall and called himself a captured English doctor in order to see a French civilian in the town who was ill. He took all this trouble because he thought the excitement (the hatred of the German) would be bad for his patients, and, of course, he was under no obligation to treat people in the towns at all. I think there is no doubt the wounded are well treated as a rule."

Think of and pray for the mothers who will suffer. Think of the suffering which only mothers can really understand. The following letter, taken from the breast of a young Russian officer, killed, in action, speaks to us all—but especially does it speak to some mothers who have held back their sons and daughters
